LOGO

BURNT OUT GAMES

The flame playfully ties with the company name, Burnt Out Games. The flame is a symbol of creativity, transformation and warmth/connection — representing the company's values.

The flame looks like it's been through the heat but refuses to burn out. Its expression conveys grit, determination and a hint of attitude, embodying the spirit of players (and team) who keep going no matter what.

Warm colors communicate vitality and connection, ideal colors for a brand that wants to feel dynamic and community-driven. The gradient suggests transformation and variety, as the company continues to evolve over time and extend its library of games.

The bold, dark lettering grounds the vivid imagery with a sense of authority. The shortening and uneven stems in the letter "U"s symbolize the fluctuating energy or life bar of a video game character — sometimes full, sometimes depleted — but always regenerating and pushing forward. Not unlike the players themselves! It reinforces the idea that Burnt Out Games celebrates both the thrill of the play and the determination to keep going, even when you're "burnt out."
